in school's enrollment, facilities, Billie Cup spirit

The addition of the freshman class, newly-constructed facilities, and a second place berth in the state A-2 basketball tournament will be remembered as the highlights of the 1967-68 school year. For the first time since 1961, the ninth graders became part of the high school. The addition of the new class increased the enrollment to 438. The freshmen led all classes with 128 students. The sophomores followed with 122, the juniors with 100, and the seniors trailed with 88.

To accomodate the larger student body, the construction of four new classrooms, a general purpose building, and a team room began in the early spring of 1967, and ended in the late fall. As a result of the unfinished classrooms, the starting days of school were postponed for one week. Work continued on the rooms for two months, and classes were temporarily held in other rooms.

However, as the school year went by and the buildings were completed, the students made adjustments to their new environment. Students participated in more school activities, and individual classes competed for the Billie Cup, which increased school spirit. The spirit paid off as the basketball team took second place in the state A-2 tournament.

As Pleasant Hill High school continues to grow and improve so does the Hepta. This year 16 more pages full of this year's memories have been added, and new techniques in annual production have been used. It is the sincere wish of the Hepta staff that these memories will continue to live within these pages throughout the coming years.

The new high school administrators, Principal Glenn Orton and Vice-Principal James Sorensen, tried to increase student responsibility and to establish better administration, faculty, and student relations. To achieve these goals they initiated the independent study concept, and faculty-student advisory program. In the independent study program, students were issued Instructional Material Center cards which enabled them to use their study time as they wished. The student-faculty advisory program, in which students were assigned individual teachers, was designed to help students plan a course schedule for their remaining high school years.

Science

Another addition to the school was the expansion of the science wing. A new biology room and preparation room were added, while the old biology room was extended ten feet. New laboratory tables with acid proof tops also were installed in the new science room. All this new equipment helped the teachers have more room for classes and more flexibility in teaching. In addition, two new subjects, introduction to physical science and earth science, were added to the curriculum. To give the students the highest quality science education possible, the emphasis on learning was changed from word memorization to investigation.

Algebra I, Consumers Math, Math 9

A wide choice of math classes was offered to students this year. Math 9 was designed to give background to students who lacked knowledge in general mathematics. Advanced general math and consumer math were for students who wished to study practical problems such as investments, insurance, and taxes. Introduction to algebra, a preparation for Algebra I, included a study of terms, expressions, and equations of basic algebra. Algebra I included learning how to generalize, symbolize and find properties of numbers. This study continued in Algebra II where geometry and trigonometry problems were explored. Higher math classes included geometry and mathematical analysis.

English

Recommendations by the English teachers determined to which level of the English classes a student would be assigned. Freshmen and sophomores were divided into basic and regular English levels. Junior and senior classes were divided into basic, regular and advanced English courses. The basic classes were designed to provide students with a background in reading and writing which would ready them for regular English. Freshman classes dealt primarily with the study of grammar and other foundations of English, Types of literature and the development of reading and composition were taught at the sophomore level. In addition to the study of American literature, the junior classes emphasized writing, including the fundamentals of the research paper. Senior classes studied English literature, grammar and writing. Advanced classes placed a heavier stress on preparation for college.

Foreign Language

The Spanish program was enhanced by the installation of a language lab. The modern facilities were used to the fullest extent in the four sections of Spanish. The classroom was equipped with a console and 24 retractable headsets over each of the students desks. The teacher console, which contained two tape recorders, a phonograph, and a control panel, was placed in the front of the room. By using the control panel, the teacher could play tapes and records for, or communicate directly with individual students or the whole class.

Three years of Spanish were offered. Spanish I was for those students who had no knowledge of the language. Students who wished to pursue the subject further were placed in either Spanish II or III upon the recommendation of the Spanish teacher.

Lynnette Kildal, Debbie Hills, Pat McKillip, Judy Middlesworth, Lynn Murphey and Janet Morss use the head sets during Spanish II class.

Journalism

Scratching pencils, rustling paper and pounding staplers were just a few of the sounds heard from the journalism class. The class is divided into two sections, the newspaper staff and annual staff. The newspaper, which consists of news stories, feature stories, and sports stories, stories, is published semi-monthly. Although the annual work starts in the fall, work is continued throughout the year and into the summer, and ends with the delivery of the book the following fall. Drawing layouts, cropping pictures, writing cutlines and copy, pasting pictures, and collecting ads are a few of the activities that go on before publication of the book.

Social Science

The purpose of the four social studies courses was to prepare students for effective living, and responsible citizenship in a democracy. World Geography, a required course for freshmen, broadened students' understanding of the climatic divisions of the earth, and the various cultures of these regions. Students learned basic skills such as map reading, the use of periodicals and other reference material.

All juniors were required to take United States history. This class stressed the responsibilities of students as U.S. citizens. Students studied the social, cultural, political, and economic factors which contributed to the development of the nationl Modern problems introduced seniors to the problems of modern America, and stimulated critical thinking and analysis of the problem areas. The only elective social studies course offered was world history. Through world history students developed a background to understanding current world problems by studying the histories and geographical factors which influenced the development of other peoples.

Business Education

Before becoming a part of the business world, a use of vocational skills is needed. However, this is only a small part of the business education curriculum. The expectations of an employer go as far as attitude, grooming, and accuracy.

As part of the training in shorthand, bookkeeping, and secretarial office, the girls worked in a room set up to simulate an office situation. The room, added to the business department this year, was equipped with ten electric typewriters, one Friden rotary calculator, two printing calculators, and three adding machines. Typing I, II, and personal typing are held in the original room, which features 29 manual typewriters.

Miss Bette Hack helps Shanna Brown adjust the margins on the IBM typewriter. Miss Hack teaches bookkeeping, Shorthand I, secretarial office practice, personal typing, Typing II, and record keeping.

With the expansion of the school, a sewing room, storage room and a show case were added to the home economics room. Because of the expansions, semester classes in clothing and foods were offered along with the regular Home Ec. I, II, III, and senior home economics. The sewing room featured a new "golden touch and sew machine." This allowed new sewing techniques, such as the hidden zipper and new sizing, to be introduced.

The home economics classes provided material and information for those who wished to become homemakers, or to take up home economics as a career. The six areas covered by the department included clothing, foods, family relations, child development, home furnishings, and management.

The shop classes, which included industrial arts, drafting, carpentry, and art, are designed to help students who wish to learn some vocational skills. Industrial arts classes taught students the fundamentals of hand tools and how to recognize materials. Students in the drafting classes learned how to draw and interpret plans. Construction of useful products from wood was part of the carpentry classes. Art classes explored many areas of art by working with paint, wood, sculpture, and clay.

A few members of the band and chorus went to "Music in May" at Pacific University, and to two operas, one at the Portland Colliseum and the other at South Eugene. The band concluded the year by playing for the graduation exercises.

Instructional Materials Center

The construction of the Instructional Materials Center more than doubled the size of the old library. The IMC was the center of the high school, and consisted of the library where books could be checked out, conference rooms for meetings and discussions, and departmental resource centers. Here, students learned to make use of their time and carry out responsibilities on their own. To use the IMC during study halls, students were issued independent study passes. However, before a pass was issued, a student had to meet certain qualifications and obtain the signatures of five of his teachers.

One of the most outstanding accomplishments a boy or girl could achieve in physical education was winning the presidential physical fitness award. To discover his level of physical fitness, each student took the AAPHER tests. The events making up the AAPHER tests included the softball throw, the 50-yard dash 660-yard run, arm hand, shuttle run, rope climb, bar-dips, pull-ups, sit-ups and the broad jump. The tests were given at the beginning and end of the year, and records were kept of each student's final standings. Each time the tests were given, students worked to improve their results and to win the presidential physical fitness award.

During the rest of the year, the P.E. courses offered a variety of activities. These included soccer, softball, basketball, volleyball, trampoline, prisonball, sacket, creative dancing, free exercise, wrestling, and golf. Besides having fun in the P.E. program, students learned the fundamentals of each sport and improved their skills.

Secretary Sherry Gorton rewrites the minutes of a Student Council meeting.

As the school continues to grow and improve, so does the organization that represents the student body. Four freshman representatives were added to the organization, increasing the membership to 24. The first act of the student government was to set up discussion groups in the English classes. Each class was assigned a member to report on the council's proceedings.

The major project of the council was the planing of a student center between the IMC, and general purpose buildings. the council decided that bricks would be laid on one half of the grounds, and a flower box would be placed in each corner.

To build stronger organizations within the school, the Inner Club Council met every other week in place of the Student Council. The 23 members of the ICC, under the direction of student body Vice-President Marsha Sieges, re-evaluated, and re-chartered the school's clubs. Other accomplishments of the ICC included the devising of a workable club meeting schedule, and the posting of a club activities calendar.

Marsha Sieges, vice-president, checks over the club activity calendar for January.

The filing of checks is just a part of the work done by Treasurer Judy Frazier.

Besides trying to set good examples for the underclassmen, the seniors worked hard at building school spirit and earning points toward the Billie Cup. Winning the Homecoming sign-competition, having the best display for National Education Week, earning 350 of 500 points for the spirit week, and winning a few competition yells at the pep assemblies helped to add points for the seniors.

In addition, the seniors were quite busy getting ready for one of the most important parts of their lives, graduation. They chose mint green and white for their class colors, carnation for their flower, and "With the Keys of Knowledge, We Open the Doors to the Future," for their motto. Cap and gown sizes were also taken, and other accessories, such as senior keys, announcements, and thank you cards, were ordered.

To get the class out of debt from last year, the seniors voted that each member pay fifty cents in dues each semester. The class also sponsored two booths at the grade school carnival, and co-sponsored the "Freaky-Five" volleyball game with the sophomores to raise money for its gift. The class decided to leave a Memory Rock, in which the names of PH alumni who have died in the armed forces will be inscribed.

Juniors sponsor annual events, win Billie Cup

One of the junior class's greatest accomplishments was winning the Billie Cup. This award continued their achievement of 1967 when they were named class of the year. This year the juniors earned the honor through their participation in all the school's activities.

In order to finance the Junior-Senior Prom, the class sponsored several money-raising projects. The class put on a few car washes and the Sadie Hawkins dance in November. After a lot of controversy and revoting, the juniors finally chose the Country Squire as the site of the Prom. The Prom, "Love Is Blue," was given Saturday, April 27. Another successful spring event was the Junior-Senior Barbecue. Approximately 50 students attended the annual event at Jasper Park on Saturday, May 18. They participated in a variety of activities including volleyball, baseball, football, horseshoes, and eating.

Sixteen juniors acted as counselors for the sixth graders during outdoor education week. The juniors led the sixth graders on night hikes, campfires, flag ceremonies, singing, and helped with the outdoor study of field life at Camp Lane.

Sophomores experience traditional problems

The class of 1970, the junior high school's last ninth grade class, had no problems adjusting to high school life. They participated in extra-curricular activities, and the race for the Billie Cup. However, the sophomores had to face the traditional problem of raising money for their junior year.

The class's biggest money-making project was a dance after the PH-Elmira basketball game. The Brass Tac provided the music for the dance in the General Purpose building. The event brought in $40 for the class. Selling "Pollywog Candy" was one of the sophomores more time-consuming projects. Although the sale went on for over a month, the sophomores made only $18.50. Later on in the year, the sophomores earned $18.56 in one evening. With the seniors they co-sponsored the Freaky Five volleyball game. Members of the two classes fielded a single team to oppose the KASH radio volley-ball team.

Freshman class adds size, spirit

For the first time since 1961, a freshman class was a part of the high school. Because they were the largest class, the freshmen usually took first place in the class competition yells at the pep assemblies. However, they earned their Billie Cup points through athletic participation, as a large number of freshmen boys turned out for the school's teams.

The class of 1971 showed money making potential as they sponsored several projects and activities. They began by sponsoring a car wash. In spite of the rainy day the class earned $26. In December, they collected 2½ tons of scrap metal, which sold for $68. Next, they collected and sold two tons of old newspapers and magazines. To conclude their money making efforts, the freshmen sponsored the "Last Chance Dance," the final dance of the school year.

Athletes represent PH in six state contests

Pleasant Hill's athletic program had a successful year as six out of seven teams were represented in state championships. For the second consecutive year the basketball and baseball teams took league titles. Other PH teams, or individual team members were represented in the state wrestling, swimming, cross-country and track finals.

In the spring additional bleachers were installed, expanding the athletic facilities. The Billie Boosters collected donations and sponsored money-making projects to purchase the $6,750 bleachers from the University of Oregon. This much needed improvement will provide seating for 1,200 spectators on the south side of the football field, 300 on the north, and 200 behind the baseball backstop. The new bleachers were first used at the Emerald League and State B track meets which PHHS hosted in May.

David Dowdy was named athlete of the year for his achievements in basketball and baseball. David was named to the all-league basketball and baseball teams in his junior and senior years. The Oregon Journal named him to its all-state basketball team. He also played in the first annual state all-star high school basketball game.

The team's lone freshman, Scott McKee, takes first in the 100-yard free-style.

In only their second year of actual team competition, the swimmers continued to establish themselves as a permanent entry among Pleasant Hill's teams. The Billies were part of a ten school league, including eight district 5 A-1 schools, and St. Francis, the only other A-2 school. The Billies were entered in combined A-1 and A-2 meets both at the district and state swimming contests. The team, coached by Mrs. Linda McAllister, sent two of its varsity members to the state meet. The McKee brothers competed with representatives from 48 Oregon schools. Three-year letter winner Mike McKee took a second in the 100-yard free-style event. Freshman Scott McKee took a tenth in the 400-yard free-style.

Four swimmers, Mike and Scott McKee, Linda Jones, and Jon Dyer, won varsity letters. Junior Mike McKee, the team's captain, gained the most points toward the Billie cause, and was named the team's outstanding swimmer. Linda Jones and Lenard Farnsworth were the squads only graduating seniors.

Billie gridders end season in three way tie

Injuries to key players and inexperience hurt the Billies football cause as they finished the season with a 2-win, 5-loss record in Emerald League play. The Billies wound up in a three-way tie for third place with St. Francis and Creswell. In spite of several disappointing set-backs, the team did set a season first-down record of 94. The old record was 54.

The season began with junior quarterback Dave Roberts leading the Billie offense in a passing attack. After two non-league losses, the Billie forces rallied to beat the Central Linn Cobras 13 to 6 in the first league game of the season. However, shortly after this victory the team lost three of its starters, Dave Roberts, center Mark Ewing and guard Jim Burke to injuries. After the loss of Roberts, sophomore Floyd Bates took over the quarterback duties and the team shifted to a running offense. Following four consecutive losses, the Billies managed a muddy 6-0 Homecoming victory over the North Douglas warriors.

Steve Dowdy and Leland Dworshak are the team's co-captains.

A disappointing loss to St. Francis in the final game resulted in the three-way tie.

The team's leading scorers were senior fullback Steve Dowdy, and senior end Jeff Jacobson, each with 18 points, and Floyd Bates with 12 points. Danny Bain may have set a record as the team's utility man. By the end of the season he had played all offensive and defensive back positions, kicked all extra points, and after Mark Ewing's injury, centered the ball on punts.

Young harriers finish sixth in state meet

Freshman Dale Hammitt overtakes a Glide runner on his way to finishing 19 in the state meet.

A bright future may be ahead for PH's young cross-country team. Relying on underclassmen, the Billies came through the 1967 season with four wins and two losses. Although they had no returning lettermen, the team members proved they were determined to follow the victorious footsteps of previous PH cross-country teams. Their determination paid off as the Billies placed second in district behind the Central Linn Cobras, who later won the state championship, and sixth in state.

The group of three juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen traveled to Willamette University's stadium in Salem to compete in the A-2 cross-country championship. The young harriers fulfilled Coach Nick Carnefix's prediction and placed sixth in state with 190 team points. The coach stated that the team got off to a bad start, but made up the distance during the final part of the 2½ mile race. Freshmen Dale Hammitt sparked the team on by finishing 22nd, while sophomore Vince Carr followed in 36th place, junior Jim Dodson in 37th, junior Steve Adams in 42nd, sophomore Bob Broderick in 53rd, junior Gregg Cagle in 59th, and freshman Ed Walter in 85th place. Dale Hammitt received the outstanding cross-country team member award, and Jim Dodson was named the most improved runner.

League Champs nab second in state tourney

Pleasant Hill displayed great skill in defending its Emerald League basketball title enroute to a 22-5 season record and a second place finish in the state tournament. The Billies amassed this fine record despite the loss of first-string forward Dave Roberts early in the season. Dave, a junior, had surgery on his knee after he injured it in basketball practice.

Although challenged in narrow contests by St. Francis, Elmira, and Junction City, the Billies captured the league's first-half title undefeated. In the second half, the Billies lost to Elmira 56-46 on the Falcon's court. Junction City annilhilated the ballteam 65-43 in the last league game and took the second-half title. The tie forced a best two-out-of-three playoff series to determine the Emerald League's representative in the state tournament. In the first playoff game at Thurston High School, the Billies handily defeated the Tigers 44-40. Willamette High was the site of the second playoff game between the two rivals. Pleasant Hill gained the state tournament berth when senior guard Steve Dowdy hit a 30-foot jump shot in the final seconds to give the Billies a 54-53 victory.

Traveling to Coos Bay, Pleasant Hill eased past Clatskanie 59-54 in the first game of the tournament. In the second night's action, the Billies surprised third-ranked Yamhill-Carlton Tigers 61-57. The championship game matched the Billies against the Sutherlin Bulldogs. The Bulldogs, led by the torrid shooting of guard Mike Vermeer, handed the Billies a heartbreaking 72-64 defeat.

The outstanding skills of the Billies basketball players did not go unnoticed in the league and state basketball circles. Again the senior Dowdy doubles sparked the team on and gained recogni- for their outstanding achievements. David Dowdy was chosen to the all-tournament first team while cousin Steve was the first choice selection of the second team. Both Steve and Dave Dowdy were named by the Emerald League coaches as members of the all-league first team. Steve led Coach Phil Roth's charges in free throw percentage, hitting a hot .738, while Dave led the team in total points with 478. Junior Bob Flowerday's .516 field goal average and 212 rebounds were the team's individual bests in those categories. Bob was named to the Emerald League coaches' third team.

Inexperienced wrestlers send two to state

Throughout the season, the wrestling team suffered from lack of experience and wrestlers to fill certain weight classes. As a result, the team had to forfeit 10 to 20 points before each meet. Because of the shortage of wrestlers and experience, the Billies managed to win only one meet during the season. They downed the Oakridge wrestlers 34-14.

Pleasant Hill sent over twenty participants to the District 5 A-2-B wrestling tournament at Creswell, February 16 and 17. The Pleasant Hill matmen picked up five places and scored 48 points to put the Billies into fifth place. Bob Wear placed first in his 157-lb. weight class, while Arlen Weller took second in the 130-lb. weight class. Heavyweight Larry James placed third, 98-lb. Leland Weller, fourth, and 191-lb. Mike Middlesworth, fifth. With sophomore Bob Wear and senior Arlen Weller placing first and second in district, they were entitled to compete in the state meet at Corvallis, February 23 and 24. Arlen lost his first match 5-4. Bob won his first match, but lost his second 4-3. Arlen and Leland Weller, Larry and Dwayne Love, and Larry James also saw action in the state-wide Greco-Roman tournament in Portland.

Spikers end season with 3-4 dual meet record

Phil Erickson finishes the 440-yard dash.

A young track team composed mainly of sophomores and juniors represented Pleasant Hill this year. Because the team did not have much depth, the runners and fieldmen usually competed in two or more events. The team had only four days of practice before they participated in the Emerald relays which started the season. Despite this handicap the Billies tied with St. Francis for fifth place.

The team established a 3-4 win-loss record in dual meet competition. In their first meet the Billies fell to the Elmira Falcons 90-40. The Billies recorded other losses at the hands of Junction City, Central Linn, and Oakridge. In a triangular meet against Gilchrist and Oakridge the PH team placed third with 41 points. The Billies downed the Creswell Bulldogs by picking up 10 first places. The PH trackmen also handed North Douglas a 94-46 defeat, and topped St. Francis 86-50.

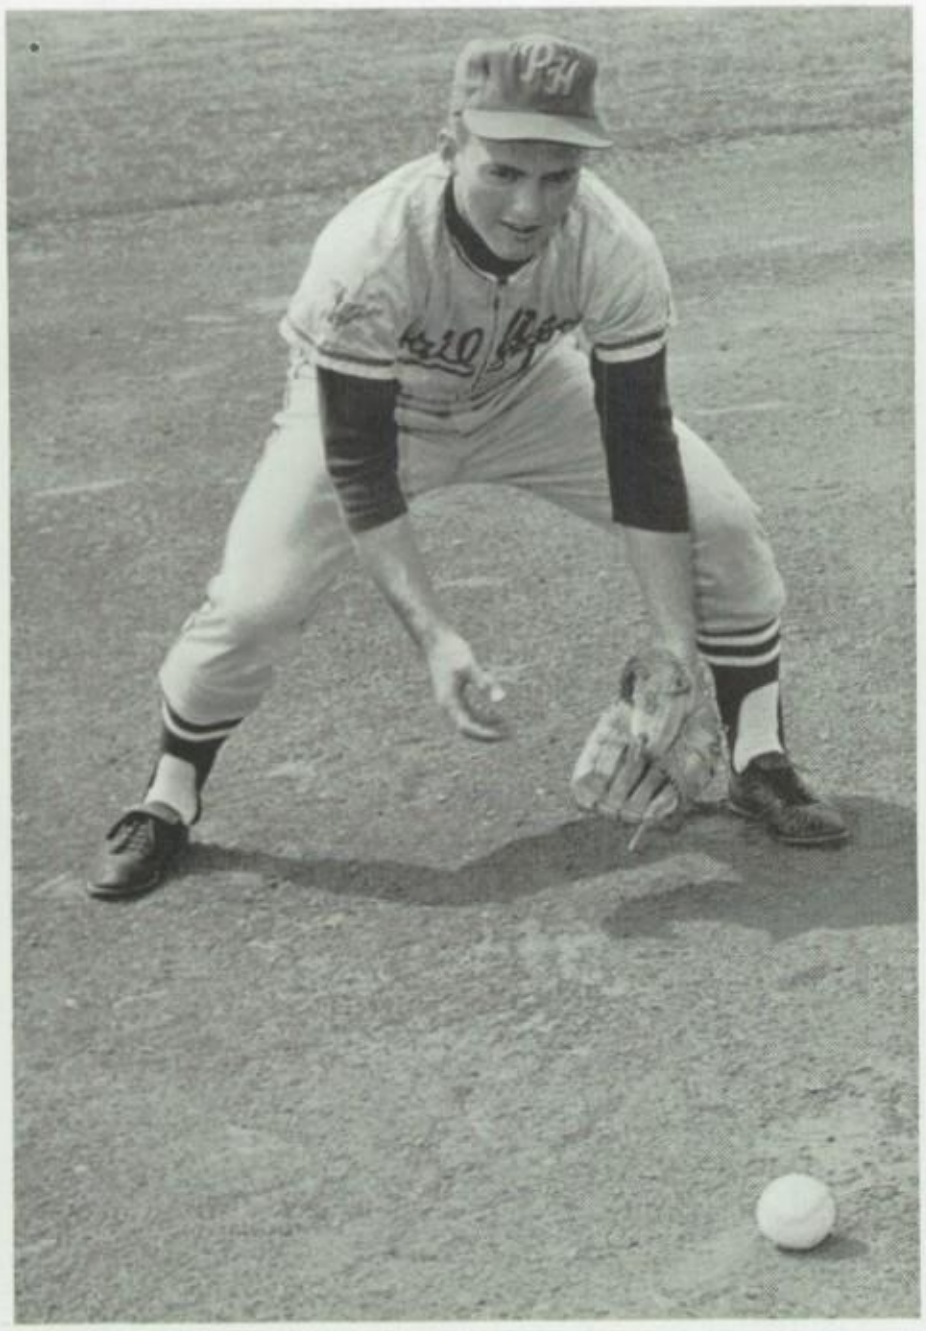
In the district 5 A-2 track preliminaries and finals, held on the PH field, the team sent only miler Gary Jacobson to compete in the state track meet. Junior Phil Erickson led the team in total points with 63½, and was voted the outstanding trackman. He was followed closely by sophomores Vince Carr and Gary Jacobson.



All-league second baseman Dan Bain prepares to field a ground ball.

Baseball is gaining recognition as one of Pleasant Hills prominent sports, as the Billies won the Emerald League title for the second year in a row. It was the first time in the history of Emerald League baseball that any team accomplished this feat. In pre-league action the team was pitted against several 5 A-1 schools. Although losing every contest with the big schools, the boys gained experience and poise, which ultimately served as a great aid in league action.

The Billies breezed to a 9-2 record, losing only to Junction City and Elmira. However, the league title was in doubt until the final day of the season. The Billies were one-half game out of first as they met Elmira for a double-header. On the same day, league-leading Junction City faced Oakridge in two games. While the Billies were splitting with Elmira, Oakridge took two from Junction City. The Billies were in first and had the title.

In first round action of the state baseball playoffs, the Billies downed the visiting Taft Tigers 3-1. In the semi-final game, the Billies lost to Scappoose of the Yawama League. Miscues played a large part in the 6-5 defeat which cut short the team's bid for the state title.

Outfielder Steve Nelson, catcher David Dowdy, shortstop Dave Roberts, and second baseman Danny Bain were selected on the basis of their individual hitting and fielding abilities. The girls track team participated in six 4-way track meets, the pre-district meet at Sheldon, and the championship meet at Pleasant Hill. The team was inexperienced with mostly freshmen and juniors making up the team. However, Coach Nick Carnefix was pleased with the team's performance in most of the running and field events. Juniors Jeannie Easton and Shelley Hammond were the only two who earned varsity letters, while other team members received junior awards.

In the championship meet, Pleasant Hill placed fifth of seven. Jeannie Easton captured the only first place for PH as she won the discus with a toss of 94 feet, 1 inch. Shelley Hammond, Joy Henderson, and Pleasant Hill's 440-relay team also placed in the meet. Shelley took third in the mile and fifth in the 880-yard run, with Joy taking third in the 440 and anchoring the fifth place 440-yard relay team.

Varsity rally, Yell kings

The Varsity rally was quite busy this year cheering on the football, basketball and wrestling teams at games. The rally squad also prepared and led most of the pep assemblies. In addition, the Varsity rally attended the introduction to football season party, and the fall and winter sports banquets. They also attended the state cross-country meet in Salem, and the district wrestling tournament in Creswell. For the final duty of the year, Reeta and Joy Henderson, representing the rally, presented the ribbons and awards to the winners in the State B track meet.

One of the rallies most memorable activities was that of traveling to Coos Bay for the State A-2 basketball tournament. Here the Varsity rally led a pep assembly and supported the basketball team in all three of the games. Among many other tournament activities and for the second year in a row, the Pleasant Hill Varsity rally placed last in the rally bowling competition.

Freshmen and JV rallies

Immediately following elections in October, the Junior Varsity and Freshmen rallies started creating new chants and yells to help build spirit within the classes. Elections for the JV rally were held early enough to enable the girls to support the JV football team. The Junior Varsity rally also supported the basketball and wrestling teams throughout the seasons. The three members of the Freshmen rally attended all of the C-squad home games, and a few of the away games.

Both rallies made their own pants skirts. To help them defray the expense of the uniforms, they sponsored cake raffles at some of the home games. The girls also made popcorn balls and sold them during the noon hours at school.

Pep Band

During the year, the Pep Band helped to create spirit and pep by playing for all of the pep assemblies. In addition to playing for most of the scheduled basketball games, the Pep Band also went to the State A-2 basketball tournament. Other Pep Band contributions included entertaining audiences at half-time during the athletic season, and providing dance music for the Varsity rally. To add color to the cheering section, members wore reversible blue and vests.

Pep Club

The purpose of Pep Club was to create spirit within the school and to support the school in athletics and other events. The club worked with the rally squads, helping with yells and pep assemblies. An improvement made to the Pep Club was the number of members. Approximately 50 girls attended most of the athletic events and Pep Club meetings. At the beginning of the year the club voted on a new uniform. The bonded wool, blue and gold check, v-neck vest was worn with royal blue A-line skirts.

Girls League, Canteen

GIRLS LEAGUE

In recognition of their outstanding work, the Girls League was nominated for club of the year. The club put on the annual Big and Little Sister party at the beginning of the year. At this party the freshmen and sophomore girls were acquainted with the school and met new friends. To get the club financially stable, the members sponsored bake sales and dances. The club put on the Christmas dance, "Mistletoe Stomp," and the Winter Sports Festival dance, "Colossal Carousel." The final event was the annual Mother's Tea, which featured a fashion show, art exhibit, and the induction of new officers.

CANTEEN

"Hurry Up!" "No Butterfingers!" "I'm next!" and "Thirty red licorices, please," were just a few of the sounds heard daily by the rushing canteen workers. Everyday, during each lunch hour, some 200 students rushed in and crammed against the counter, making the canteen one of the most popular places in the school. Four members worked 30 minutes each lunch period serving the crowd behind the small canteen. To ease the crowded conditions, pushing of students, and spilling of cokes, the canteen was doubled in size. With the expansion of the canteen, new stands providing a variety of candy bars and chips, a new coke machine, milkshake machine, and a hot dog machine were installed. Another improvement was the replacing of the old wood sliding doors with window screens.

Hi-Y, Let's See Oregon

LET'S SEE OREGON

Handicaps, such as stolen money and lack of interest on the part of the membership, prevented the Let's See Oregon club from seeing much of Oregon. To earn money for their first expedition, the group showed the movie, "The Pit and the Pendulum." The club earned $130, but the money was stolen during the weekend. In desperation, the club sponsored another movie, "The Tomb of Ligea," and earned $85. With the money the group took a one-day trip to the coast. Because of the lack of cars and interest on the part of the members, a trip across the state was postponed until next year.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society began an active year by bringing food for their annual Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets. The food was distributed to needy families in the area. Next, the group collected $56 for the March of Dimes. In the early spring, the organization sponsored a dance, "Up, Up and Away." With the proceeds, the club awarded two seniors with $50 scholarships.

The Honor Society also managed to participate in some social activities. The group witnessed the selection of a jury, and the actual sentencing of defendants in trials at the Eugene Court House. The group also had two bowling parties.

SANDPIPERS

The Sandpipers for sophomore girls was a new addition to Pleasant Hill's Y-Clubs. The new group participated in school and YW-YMCA activities and money making projects throughout year. Besides getting acquainted with the Tri-Hi-Y program, the members had a bottle drive in which they made $19.30. To end the year, the club took a pleasure trip to the coast.

LES CHERIES

Babysitting at the basketball games, and serving at banquets were some of the service projects of the junior girls Y-Teen group, the Les Cheries. The club also sponsored the first dance of the school year. In addition to this, the girls prepared a bill for "Youth in Government." To end their year of activity, the Les Cheries went to see the motion picture, "Gone With the Wind."

Future Teachers

The Future Teachers of America Club was revived after a year of inactivity. Its objective was to build a strong organization of students interested in the teaching profession, and to explore the various areas and levels of teaching. The 17-member group began by making a detailed study of student discipline. In addition, they laid the groundwork for an FTA library, to be placed in the Instructional Materials Center. When completed the library will contain information on colleges specializing in teacher training and textbooks used at various grade levels. Finally, each member served as a teacher assistant in the grade level or subject area of their choice.

Lettermen's Club

The purpose of the Lettermen's Club is to promote athletics in the district and to assist in athletic events. Selling popcorn at games and and wrestling meets, putting on an auction, and sponsoring a dance, were a few of the club's projects. The money earned was used to buy movie film for photographing games. They also contributed to the Billie Boosters bleacher fund-raising drive.

In addition to these activities, the club helped at games by sweeping the gym floor, watching the doors and controlling crowds. The Lettermen's Club also was active in helping the Billie Boosters put on the District A-2 and State B track meets at Pleasant Hill.

Drama Club presents two productions

Drama Club activities for the year included the production of two plays, "The Impossible Fairy Tale," and "A Letter from the General." Because of the addition of the General Purpose building with its new stage and lighting facilities, larger and more elaborate staging techniques were used.

"The Impossible Fairy Tale," written by Ray Comstock, Drama Club adviser and play director, was the first play to be produced on the new stage. The one-act play was a revised version of "Sleeping Beauty."

A second play, entitled "A Letter from the General," written by Maurice McLaughlin, was a fast-paced, three-act drama. It dealt with five nuns who attempted to smuggle a German priest out of China during the communist takeover. The cast included Eva Houston, Mother Superior; Doug Dowdy, Captain Lee; Marsha Sieges, Sister Magdelene; Debbie Soleim, Sister Lucy; Arlene Mackler, Sister Bridgett; Vicki Goodwin, Sister Henry; Jim Patterson, Father Shiller; Jane Taylor, Ruth Stilton; and Dick Johnson, Mr. Stilton.

Spanish Club sponsors exchange program

The main objective of the Spanish Club is the promotion of the foreign exchange program. Through this program students from Mexico City and Pleasant Hill learn more about the customs, people, language, and history of each other's country. Four students from Mexico City arrived on December 5, 1967, and stayed six weeks in the homes of Pleasant Hill students. During their stay, the Mexican students attended basketball games, Spanish classes, and school dances, participated in the Pasada, and toured Oregon with their adopted American families. In appreciation, the exchange students put on a party for their American families and friends.

Selling stationery and Spanish candy, sponsoring the Christmas bazaar, and a dance, the "Kaleidscope," were just a few of the Spanish Club's projects to earn money to send Pleasant Hill students to Mexico City. The seven students chosen to participate were Rena Marcus, Robin Herman, Jeannie Easton, Mike McKee, Jim Dodson, Monique Gilson, and Deane Putschler.

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Girls Athletic Association tried to build their organization and promote girls athletics. To attract girls athletic interests to the club, the small group began their activities by sponsoring a fun night. Other GAA activities included supporting the girls volleyball team, which won the district championship, and the making and selling of spirit ribbons during the basketball season. With the funds gained through their money making projects, the group purchased a reuther board, which is used in tumbling.

MEDICAL CAREERS

The Medical Careers Club was formed at the beginning of the second semester so that the members could take the Red Cross nurses aide training course. However, the purpose of the organization was to promote interest in careers in all fields of medicine. The group of eight girls traveled to Eugene once a week for the course. After 20 hours of classroom instruction, the members were required to donate 50 hours to hospital service. Most of the club members planned to work in hospitals during the summer months.

Jody Van Tuyl reigns over "Colossal Carousel"

Jody Van Tuyl was crowned queen of the Winter Sports Festival dance by Steve Dowdy, student body president. The event, sponsored by the Girls League, was held March 8, from 8 to 10:30 p.m.

The theme of the dance was "Colossal Carousel." Pastel colored daisies, streams of twisted crepe paper, and signs wishing the Billies good luck at the State A-2 basketball tournament decorated the General Purpose building. "The Sound Inspirations" provided the music. Judy Harris, Girls League president, presented the queen and each princess with a set of three gold bracelets.

Crowning, victory, dance highlight Homecoming festivities

The 1967 Homecoming weekend festivities were begun Friday evening with the traditional bonfire. The game followed with the Billies managing a 6-0 victory over the Drain Warriors. During half-time and in the pouring rain, Co-Captains Leland Dworshak and Steve Dowdy crowned senior Lou Turner Homecoming queen.

On Saturday evening, the dance entitled "Autumn Winds," was held in the new General Purpose building. The semi-formal event began at 8 and ended at 11:30. Autumn gold and green paper flowers decorated the archway at the entrance. Gold mums intermingled with green stock created an autumn effect for the tables. Recorded music was provided by Jerry Jenkins from radio station KORE.

After her coronation, the queen and each princess received Faberge powder and perfume. Then, the queen, princesses and their escorts danced to "It's Not for Me to Say," by Johnny Mathis.

Juniors choose Country Squire as Prom site

Blue and silver lettering and white table settings created the atmosphere for "Love Is Blue," the theme of the 1968 Junior-Senior Prom. The formal occasion took place at the Country Squire on April 27, from 8 to 12 p.m. "The Kristys" provided the music for the 70 couples who attended.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Queen Linda Jones by Mike McKee, president of the junior class. The queen was presented with six red roses and a bottle of "Chantilly" perfume. Princesses Melissa Boles, Donna Woolery, Judy Hill, and Marilyn Cornelius each received one red rose and a bottle of "Chantilly." Refreshments consisted of punch, coke, and cake served by the freshmen girls.

Couples dance to the music of the "Kristys."

Award sparks school spirit, unity

In a scramble for a rebound, Dick Condos and Dan Lane battle for the ball.

Glenn Jones and Lanny Lantz engage in a ping pong game, one of the more popular intramural activities.

Intramural sports provide fun for students

All four classes competed throughout the year to win the first Billie Cup. The juniors won the the coveted honor and accepted their prize at the awards assembly. The year of their graduation will be inscribed on the three-foot trophy which displays the school colors and coat of arms.

The inter-class competition not only increased class and school spirit, but also encouraged students to improve individually. The Billie Cup promoted school spirit by promoting such activities as spirit week in which the classes plastered the halls with spirit signs and took charge of pep assemblies. More participation in athletics was sparked by the distribution of Billie Cup points to students on athletic teams. Students also were awarded points for their class by performing school services such as cleaning up the school grounds, and helping in the production of athletic, dramatic, and other extra-curricular activities.

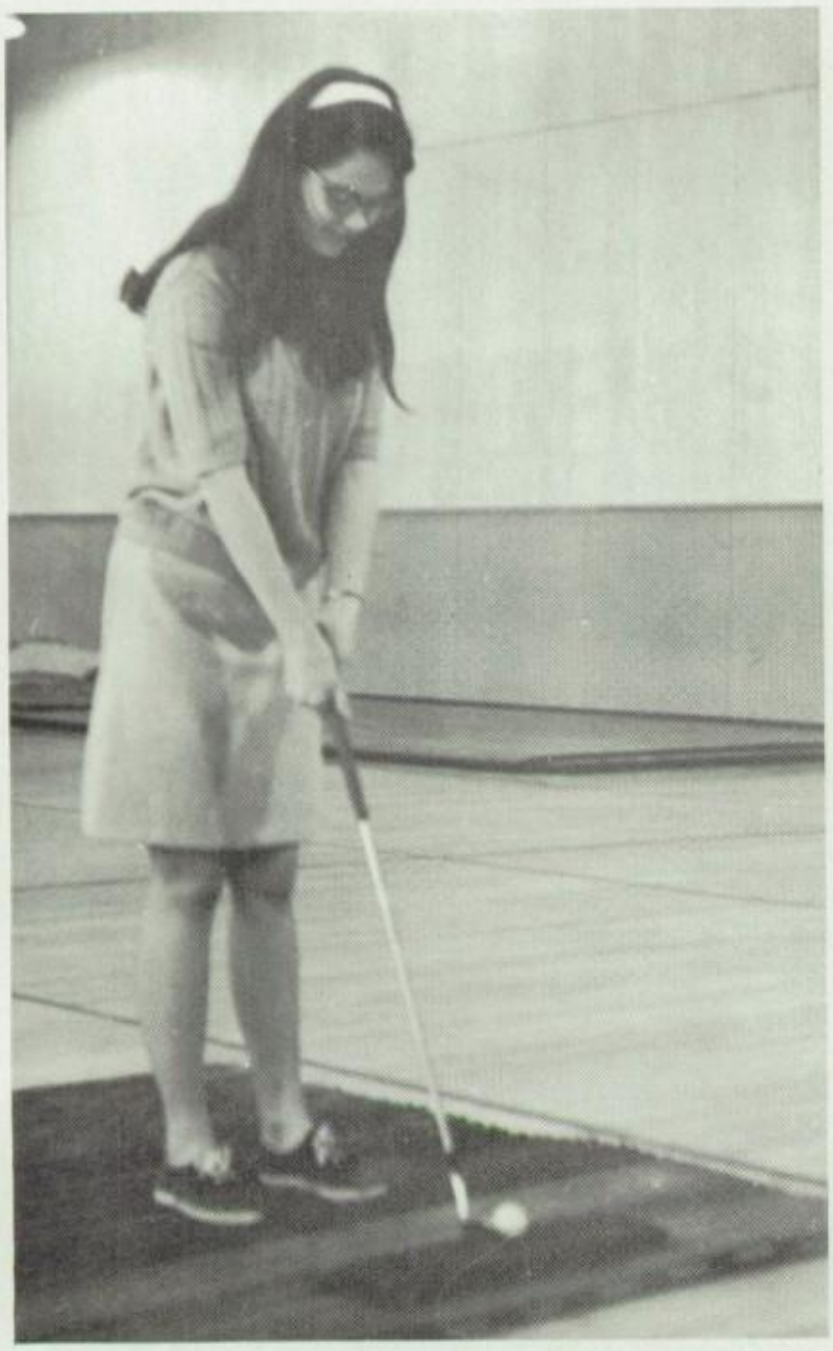
An intramural program was established during the noon hours offering such activities as soccer, basketball, football, wrestling, chess, checkers, ping pong, volleyball, golf, and trampoline. An all-school track meet was the last major event of the intramural program. Participants in each sport received points for their class.

Competition for the Billie Cup helped individual students improve scholastically as well as socially. Billie Cup points were awarded to those students who made a 3.0 GPA or better. Points were subtracted for those students who failed a class, or were involved in disciplinary problems.

Senior sackracers, Shirley Jones and Shirley Campbell, apply teamwork and coordination to earn points in the all-comers track meet.

Dean Stephens obtains an early lead on his way to winning the 120-yard low hurdles.

Amidst the confusion of the baton exchange in the 440-relay, competitors show their determination to earn points for their classes.



Valarie Schuckhart tees up during the noon hour golf lessons.

Roth's Rascals dig in for third down play, as Dietz's Dollies try to advance.

Mr. Phil Roth congratulates Steve Dowdy on receiving the outstanding senior boy award.

Marsha Sieges, outstanding senior girl, is shocked and surprised at the announcement.

Students gain recognition at annual assembly

Steve Dowdy presents the "I Dare You" books to leadership award winners Marsha Sieges and David Dowdy.

Pam Mitchell congratulates Reeta Henderson for receiving the outstanding Pep Club member award.
